Hi Christopher -- you bet. Feel free to use this. Thanks for asking.

On Wed, Feb 21, 2018 at 12:54 PM, Christopher Steel <christopher.steel@mcgill.ca> wrote:
> Hello David McFarland,
>
> Nice to meet you via email and to have a chance to thank you for sharing your > display-markdown project on Github. I really like it a lot, in fact it was exactly > what I was looking for to complete a git help file system for our researcher and > developers Linux workstations here at the The McGill Centre for Integrative > Neuroscience (MCIN) and I wanted to make sure that was OK with you.
>
> May we use this as part of our open source (MIT unless you have another > preference) help menu system to display README.md files for our researchers > and developers?
>
> Would it be possible to add a LICENSE file to your repository? That would allow > us to give you "credit" where credit is due in addition to oiling our bureaucratic > rails.
>
> Happy computng, Regards
>
> Chris